THINGS TO DO

Detroit is a destination for everyone, with a ton of not-to-be-missed to-dos no matter your interest or tastes.

FOX THEATRE 2

Built in 1928 in the tradition of great movie palaces, the fabulous Fox Theatre in downtown Detroit, hosts a variety of events, including Broadway shows, plays, comedy and musical events. Visit the Fox Theatre website for a complete schedule of shows.

THE SPIRIT OF DETROIT 32

This iconic symbol of Detroit was created in the 1950s and was meant to represent hope, progress and "the spirit of man." When it was built, it was the largest cast bronze piece made since the Renaissance. If one of Detroit's teams wins a championship, check in to see if the statue is donning a special jersey.

THE BELT 40

The Belt is a culturally redefined alley in the heart of downtown Detroit. Named for its physical orientation in a former downtown garment district, The Belt is located between Broadway and Library Street and links Gratiot Ave. and Grand River.

CAMPUS MARTIUS 83

Located in the heart of downtown, Campus Martius Park is Detroit's official gathering place and award-winning signature public space. The 2.5-acre park is a year-round outdoor venue with gardens, performance stages, food trucks, and an ice rink in the winter.

DETROIT'S CULTURE OF SUSTAINABILITY

DETROIT HAS A GREENER SIDE — FOUND IN MEETING VENUES, MARKETS AND IN VACANT SPACES

Detroit takes the stewardship of our environment seriously. It starts on the roof of the cutting-edge, LEED-certified Huntington Place convention center and extends to Eastern Market, one of the country's oldest farmers markets. The Detroit Riverfront has been transformed from an industrial-only area to four miles of paved walkway to bike, hike and jog through parks, pavilions and green spaces. Once-vacant areas of the city are now budding tree farms, havens for beehives, and seasonal gardens and flower factories ripe for the picking.

MICHIGAN'S LARGEST CITY

DETROIT IS ONLY A 90-MINUTE FLIGHT OR LESS FROM 60 PERCENT OF THE COUNTRY'S POPULATION

DRIVE TIMES

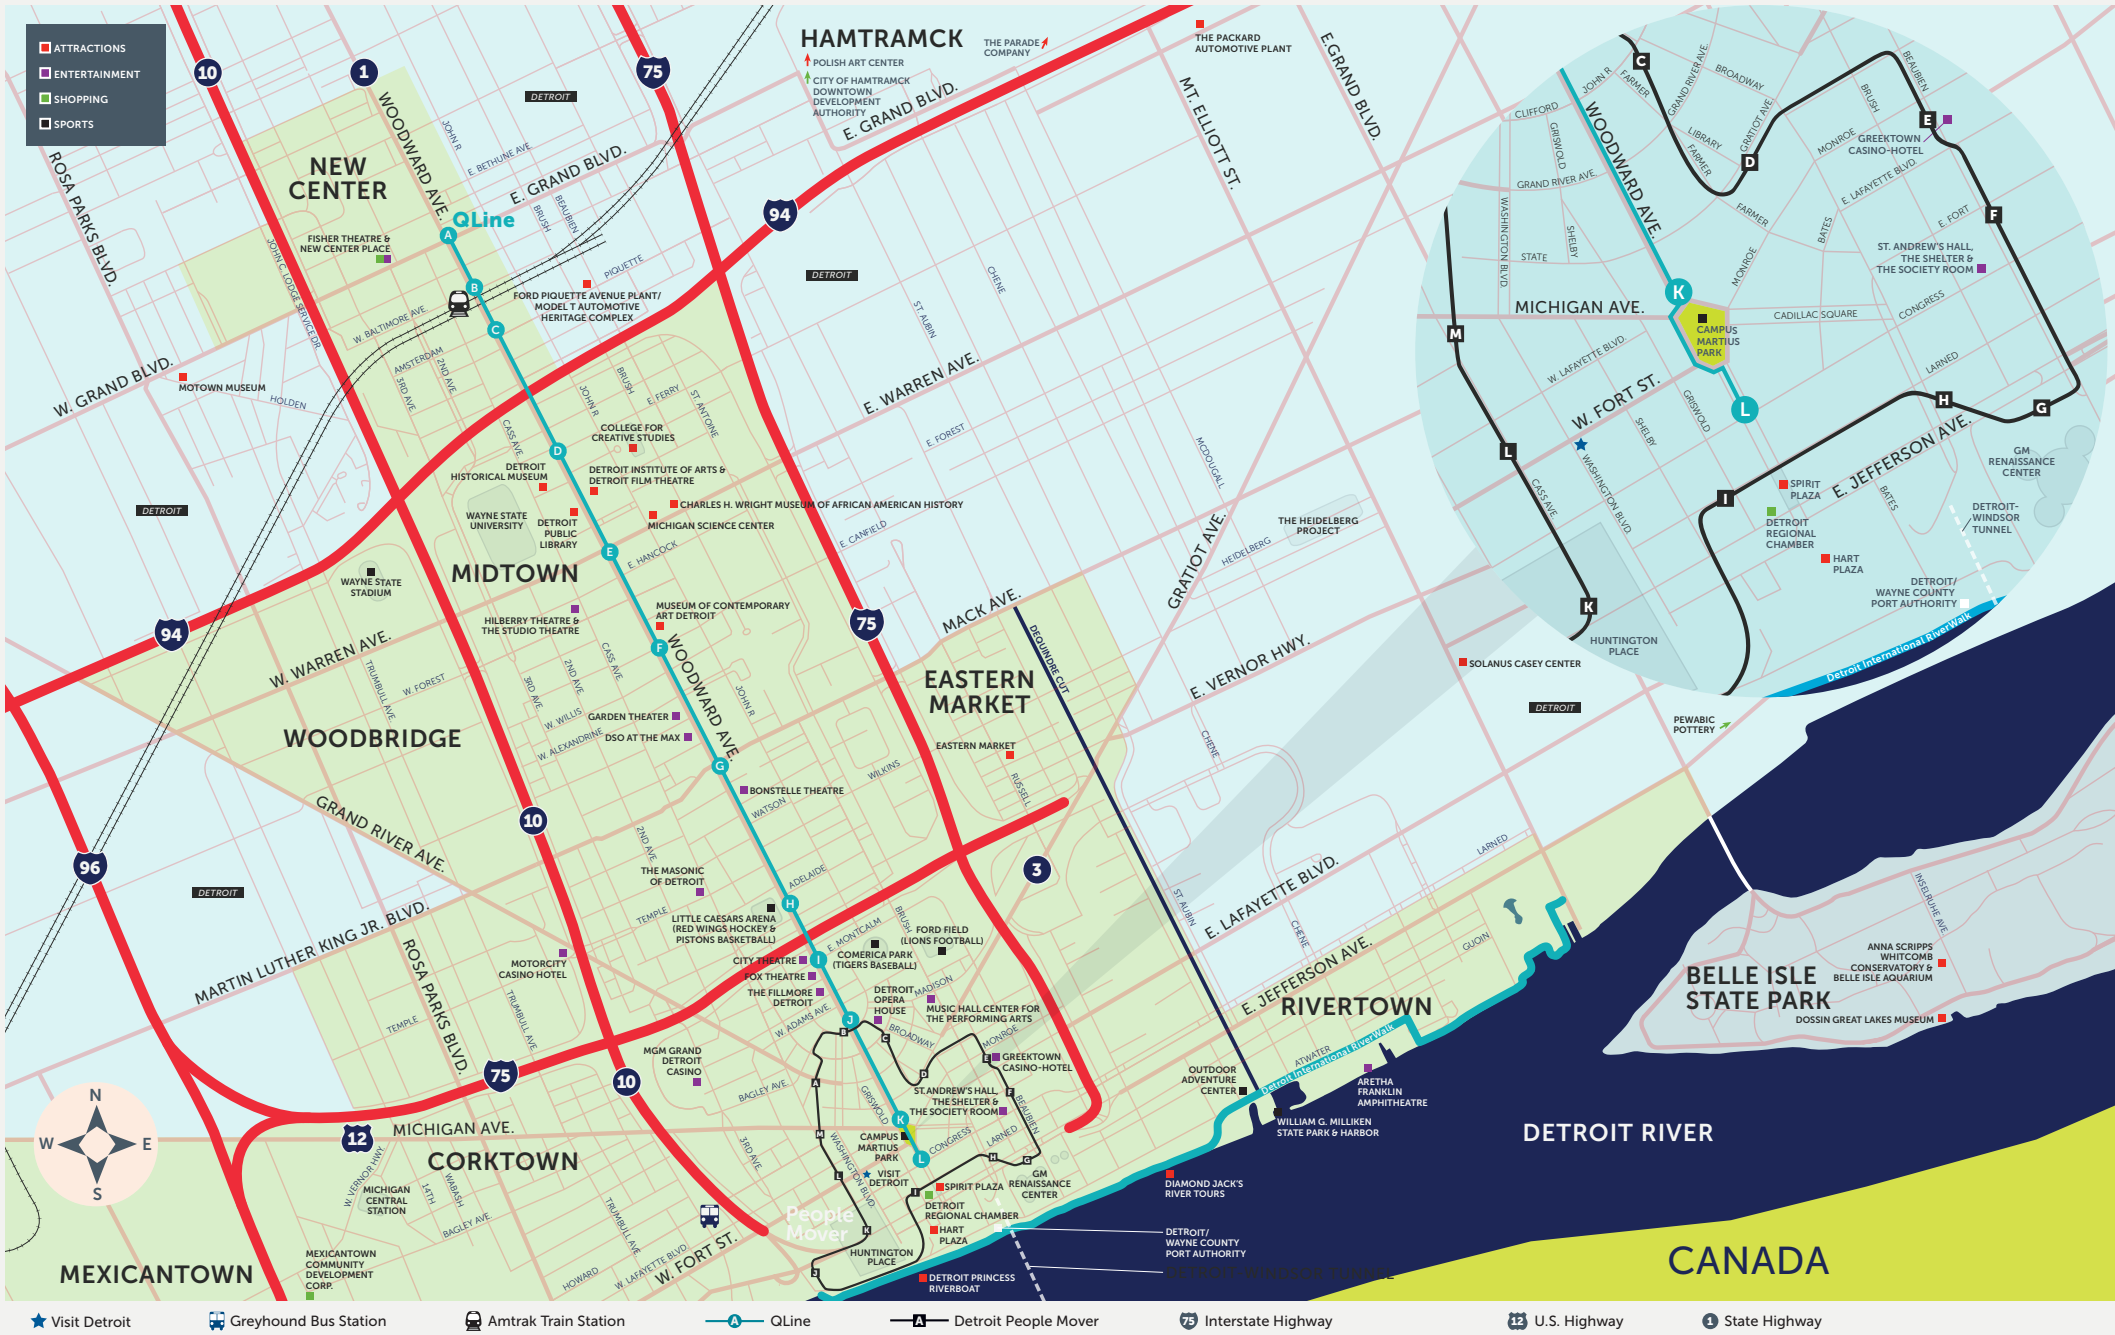

Detroit is located in southeastern Michigan, one of 12 states in the north-central region of the U.S., also called the Midwest. It is home to one of the world's busiest air transportation hubs, Detroit Metropolitan Airport (DTW). Approximately 20 miles outside the city, DTW offers nonstop flights to 140 destinations in the world with some 1,100 domestic and international takeoffs and landings taking place daily. DTW is ranked No. 1 in overall traveler satisfaction among "mega" airports by J.D. Power and Associates. On the ground, Detroit is served by several interstate highways and expressways weaving across city boundaries. In downtown Detroit, an expanded public transportation infrastructure includes the 3.3-mile QLine streetcar, the Detroit People Mover as well as bike and scooter share programs.
